“How do you think your organisation would react to phishing emails?”

We Live & Breathe Cyber Security

All of our experts are extremely passionate about cyber security. This is part of our core value. Our goal is to protect your organisation.

We engaged DigitalXRAID to help with the risk of Phishing and since engaging with them, everyone in the business is much more confident handling emails and identifying potentially risky emails.

1. Understand your needs

We work to understand what you need out of your managed phishing service. Whether you've fallen victim to an attack or you are just safeguarding your data we need to understand your organisation.

2. Assess your current exposure

We work to understand how many phishing emails you receive and how you react to them in the first instant, this helps us understand how to cater your campaigns to your organisation. Our target is to create something as real as possible. If your organisation sells furniture, a phishing email about car parts would not get the intended response. It all has to be catered to you.

3. Establish a baseline

Our initial campaign will help us establish a baseline. This allows us to understand your current risk and where improvements can be made.

4. Train employees

We create a bespoke training platform for employees to learn and understand how to avoid phishing emails. This gives them confidence and empowerment to avoid falling victim both in their personal and professional lives.

We want your employees to be security champions.

5. Measure improvement with multiple campaigns

With additional campaigns you will be able to understand the improvements your staff have made in dealing with phishing emails.

Track your exposure to phishing throughout the year

6. Report

Our comprehensive reporting will be ready to show stakeholders exactly how the organisation has performed and how they have improved using our training. We also recommend extra campaigns to ensure that the training does not get forgotten.
